In only one instance (bedroom #2) does the width of the opening change/get larger. Drawings are included from Jorgensen Engineering regarding structural specifications for that door. Also, an existing sliding door (living room) is being reduced in width and replaced with a French door. A number of electrical outlets will need to move to accommodate the new door. In addition, a light fixture will be added outside the primary bedroom's new sliding door. Remove Wall A non-load bearing wall separating our living room from a den is being removed to open up the space. Jorgenson Engineering has specified that this is a non-load bearing wall.
